Highwood Lodge Case Study

Gutterworks Limited was specified to fulfil an ambitious architectural vision, and took on the supply and installation of black and white Aluminium Skyline materials on a new, pavilion-style build. The striking appearance of the Skyline system created a stunning, minimalist display on the property, and allowed for the open plan interior to transition seamlessly to the exterior, complementing the attached cottage and surrounding woodlands.

Capturing the architect's vision was not, however, without its challenges. The specification was demanding and accuracy key, with the abstract nature of the design requiring the delicate alignment of different elements, within tolerances of  $\pm 1\text{mm}$ . Gutterwork's use of Skyline fascia, soffit, and vertical cladding allowed for flexibility and creativity, all with hidden fixings to promote the property's visual appeal.

From the early specification of the Skyline Architectural Aluminium range through to its successful installation, Gutterworks worked closely with Alumasc Water Management Solutions (AWMS) to ensure that the intricacies of the project were treated with care and precision, and the bespoke requirements met.

Gutterworks' dedication to fulfilling the design specification and accurate handling of unique measurements saw the client's artistic vision realised.
